The British soldiers are having a pretty hot time in South Africa now, but they will have it hotter. January is the hottest month in the year down there.

Oklahoma thinks as she has a population of 400,000, and can show up $40,000,000 worth of property she is entitled to come into the family of States and sit around with the sisters.

A sanitary statistician figures out that for every soldier killed in war by bullets sixteen are killed by disease germs. This is a 16 to 1 question that our army managers would do well to give serious attention to.

A contemporary refers to Mr. McKinley as a "putty President." The gentleman who previously classed him with the jelly fish species, may object to this puttying business. Putty sticks and Mr. McKinley is not a sticker.

It is estimated by sporting statisticians that $250,000,000 are annually lost on the turf. Australia leads with $100,000,000, England follows with $50,000,000, the other $100,000,000 being distributed between other horse racing countries.

Milton Oppenheimer, a 16-year-old New York boy, heir to $5,000,000, has been missing for more than a week, and is supposed to be in the hands of kidnappers. Poor kids may slosh around without any apprehensions of being kidnapped.

Some one has invented an umbrella that will open and shut without provoking emphatic remarks. That's very good; but we still insist that what is really wanted is an umbrella that will come back after it has gone off with another fellow.

Estimates of the Secretary of the Treasury of Uncle Sam's expenses for the next fiscal year will foot up $631,081,944, about one-half of which will be for pensions and other military purposes. To foot the pension bill $145,000,000 will be needed.

In managing the Boer business down in South Africa, looking after 30,000,000 of hungry or starving people in India, and watching other nations that would like to take advantage of John Bull if he get into a tight place, the British statesmen will have about all they can attend to for some time to come.

Magistrate Crane, of New York, fined a man $3 for kicking a dog, "just for fun." When Mr. Bascom, a dog fancier and cultivator, of Rhode Island, saw that in the papers, he sent the Squire a fine thoroughbred collie, valued at several hundred dollars, as a testimonial of his appreciation of that fine.

Capt. DeRosset's Condition.

A letter received by a friend in the city yesterday from Capt. A. L. DeRosset, who is at Pasteur Institue, New York, for treatment of a wound inflicted by the bite of a dog supposed to have been rabid, says he is recovering very satisfactorily, though his wound is yet quite sore. Capt. DeRosset will not return for several days yet.

A WORD TO THE WISE IS SUFFICIENT.

This Section Well Adapted to Cattle Raising. Virginia Dealers Buying and Shipping Cattle From Wilmington.

Eastern North Carolina is well adapted to cattle raising, and our farmers have sufficient encouragement to go into the business from the fact that there is a constant and growing demand for cattle in this section.

The farmers in the eastern counties even now are raising more cattle than one might suppose, and no doubt it will be surprising to many of our people to know that Wilmington is getting to be quite a cattle shipping point. Messrs. J. W. Huff and C. D. Dickerson, of Harrisonburg, Va., have made several trips here and have shipped about 4,000 cattle which they picked up in the surrounding counties. Yesterday they shipped three car loads of cattle from this city.

Mr. Huff was seen by a STAR reporter at the Bonitz House last night, and he stated that he finds that splendid cattle are raised in this part of North Carolina. He is an experienced stock man and while at Raleigh a few years ago, caught on to the fact from seeing a lot of cattle that was sent there from Sampson county. He immediately determined to get his cattle supply here, and says the only difficulty is he can't get enough of them. He states that it is all a mistake to suppose one must go to the mountains to get good cattle and says the farmers of Eastern North Carolina, with their mild climate and unequalled pasturing for the greater part of the year, have a splendid opportunity to engage in a profitable industry in raising cattle for the markets.

A word to the wise is sufficient.

FESTIVE WOODMEN LAST NIGHT.

Elected Officers and Enjoyed Lunch and Smoker—Installation in January.

Last night's meeting of Live Oak Camp No. 6, Woodmen of the World, was the regular time for the election of officers for the ensuing year, beginning January 1st, 1900, and in honor of the occasion and of the adoption into its ranks of a candidate for membership, a lunch was served by the Camp, which was partaken of and highly enjoyed by a large attendance of members.

Past Council Commander Thos. R. Post presided with his accustomed ease and grace and the affair was voted one of the most pleasant in the course of the year's lodge work. Each member was presented with a cob pipe and bag of tobacco as a souvenir of the occasion.

Following is a list of officers elected:
C. C.—W. G. A Oterson.
A. L.—E. D. Warren.
Clerk—Geo. C. Jackson.
Banker—W. H. Howell.
C. P.—Dr. C. D. Bell.
Managers—Benj. Bell, Dr. J. D. Webster and Thos. R Post.
Watchman—W. V. Sellers.
Sentry—Jno. L. Callahan.

These will be installed at the first regular meeting of the order in January.

First Visit to Wilmington.

Capt. N. N. Hampton, of Water Lily, Currituck county, N. C., arrived in Wilmington yesterday on his first visit to our city. He is accompanied by his son, Mr. E. A. Hampton and Mr. Thomas Taylor, also of Currituck. They have come down to look into the oyster, fish and game resources of this section and will visit New River, Wrightsville, Southport and other places on our coast.

The STAR has already noticed that the fish and oyster resources around Wilmington are attracting the attention of people in Virginia, several fish and oyster men having visited Wilmington recently.

Capt. Hampton is an old sailor and has been engaged in the coasting trade but, singular to relate, he never came to Wilmington before.

School Supplies.

Capt. E. W. Manning, County School Superintendent, yesterday purchased twenty-two wall maps for the use of the various white and colored schools in the county. The maps are very complete and will be a valuable adjunct to supplies already owned by the schools. They are probably 3x6 feet in size, printed on both sides —one being of the entire world with valuable printed geographical data and the other being of the United States with portions of the Dominion of Canada and the republic of Mexico. They are the standard Rand & McNally print and cost less than seventy-five cents each. They were being distributed yesterday.

The Tug Blanche.

The tug Blanche after her accident off Bald Head which was noted in yesterday's STAR, has completed temporary repairs and is again out for her harbor duty. When the tug Alexander Jones completes her repairs in Baltimore and returns, in about ten days, the Blanche will go on the ways for permanent repairs and thorough overhauling. Capt. J. W. Craig, of the Towing and Transportation Company, says that work on the Jones is progressing very satisfactorily indeed.

Account of Christmas holidays, the Seaboard Air Line will sell round trip tickets to all points east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers, at one and one-third first class fare. Tickets will be put on sale December 23nd, 23rd, 24th and 25th with final limit January 4th, 1899.

THROUH SERVICE WANTED.

Chamber of Commerce to Co-operate With the Merchants' Association to Secure Quicker Time to New York.

Yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock was the time for the regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce but no quorum was present, hence no meeting was held.

A number of the members of the Chamber were present, and in accordance with the action of the Merchants' Association, Mr. W. E. Worth, president of the Chamber, appointed a committee to co-operate with the committee appointed by the Merchants' Association to urge upon the Atlantic Coast Line to give Wilmington direct through passenger service to and from New York. President Worth appointed as such committee Messrs. D. L. Gore, M. W. Jacobi and J. Allen Taylor.

At present passengers from Wilmington to New York and from New York to Wilmington have to lie over at Wilson. The object of the committee is to have direct connection with the through trains and at least to save passengers the necessity of changing cars.

Impersonated Officer.

Ed. Mintz, a young white man, was tried in Justice McGowan's court yesterday for assault and battery, for which he was fined $10. The case was attended by rather unusual circumstances from the fact that the defendant, was charged with the assault growing out of the impersonation of an officer. It was adduced from the evidence that Mintz placed under arrest a white carpenter named Cumming and subsequently released him upon the payment of a bill of $1 15, which he came to collect in the peremptory manner described. It developed that the defendant was not a deputy sheriff as he claimed, nor had he any warrant for the arrest of Cumming.

Fine Record for Grace Church.

The conference year just closed has been the most successful, from a financial point of view, in the history of Grace M. E. Church. The amount raised for conference purposes was $6,261.29, including $422.90 for foreign missions and $478.32 for home missions.

The church has paid of debt and will start the next year with clean books. The membership of the church is now 623 and the Sunday school embraces 360 pupils and 48 teachers. There are six services of various kinds on Sundays. The church has a seating capacity of 800, exclusive of the connecting lecture room which will seat 350.

An Ill-founded Rumor.

A report was current on the wharf yesterday that James, the twelve-year old son of Capt. W. A. Robeson the popular master of the A. P. Hurt, had been drowned from the boat above Elizabethtown while on the up trip to Fayetteville. Many friends of Capt. Robeson were anxions about the rumor and were glad to learn from passengers on the steamer Driver, which arrived last night at 9 o'clock, that there was no truth in the report. The Hurt was passed by the Driver above White Hall and all was well so far as could be learned.

Brunswick Back Tax.

The Board of County Commissioners, of Brunswick county, have instructed Sheriff Walker to serve notice on the president of the Brunswick Bridge and Ferry Company that the authorities will enforce the collection of back taxes on the property of the corporation for five years past amounting to something over $300. The Southport Standard says that not until this week has official notice been taken of the fact that this corporation has not paid a tax to the county for a number of years.

An Interesting Lecture.

Rev. L. W. Curtis, late missionary to Siam, whose recent return from his labors in that country was noticed in the STAR, will be the special speaker at the next Sabbath 5 o'clock afternoon service at the Y. M. C. A. Rev. Mr. Curtis will also probably conduct the services at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church on Sunday night.

THE PIPE ORGAN FOR GRACE CHURCH.

The Purpose is to Have It On Hand When Conference Meets Here Next December—Society Met Last Night.

The Young People's Organ Fund Society of Grace M. E Church held a business meeting last night at the residence of the president, Mrs. John F. Garrell, on Third and Walnut streets.

The regular routine business was transacted. It was decided to infuse new life into the work of the society during the Winter, and the plan of meetings was changed. Instead of meeting at residences, as formerly, the meetings will hereafter be held in the lecture room of the church.

The object of the society is to raise a fund to purchase a fine pipe organ for the church, and it is proposed to close up the work in the coming six months, as it is proposed to have the organ put in for the 1900 session of conference, which no doubt will meet in Wilmington next year. The organ fund now amounts to something over $1,500.

After routine business, the officers and department made their annual reports. The business closed with the report of the president and a few remarks of welcome to the newly-elected officers.

The new officers then took their positions—Mrs. W. N. Harriss as president and Mrs. A. J. Howell, Jr., as secretary.

The department work of Sorosis has been very satisfactory and will close for the year this month. The new programme for the next year's work will be issued in January.

Has Received His License.

Robert Rourk, Esq., one of the promising and most popular young attorneys at the Wilmington bar, a few days ago received his license to practice law, which was withheld when he passed the Supreme Court examination several months ago on account of his having been under age. He has now passed both the examination and his twenty-first mile post in life and has the latch string of his office, room No. 5 in the new Masonic Temple, always on the outside for clients. The STAR predicts for him an abundantly successful legal career.

Mayor's Court.

There was only one case in the police court yesterday but out of it grew two. Sarah Mack, colored, was charged with an assault upon Fannie Watson, also colored, in Gerdes' alley between Queen and Wooster and Eighth and Ninth streets. The Mack woman was dismissed of the charge of assault and both participants in the "bout" were placed under $50 bond each to keep the peace.

FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 8.

A CANAL A NECESSITY.

Whatever the differences of opinion may be as to certain features in the message of the President, there will be pretty general agreement as to the favorable mention of the isthmian canal. The desirability of a waterway between the two oceans has been recognized for over half a century, it has been discussed more or less for over half a century, it has been before Congress in some shape a number of times, it has been endorsed by State Legislatures, it has been endorsed by the platforms of all the political parties, recommended by the Chambers of Commerce of numerous cities, advocated by representative speakers of the respective parties and by the press of the country regardless of politics, and yet we have progressed only so far in this work as the appointment of some committees to visit the proposed routes of the canals talked about and report their conclusions.

While we have been talking about a canal the Suez canal was built, in spite of the opinions of eminent civil engineers that it was an impracticable scheme; the trans-Siberian railway, a more colossal undertaking than this canal, has been practically completed, and while we are sti l talking about it that other great railway, conceived in the bold brain of Cecil Rhodes, connecting North and South Africa, will in all probability become an accomplished fact. In the meantime while we are talking a European company is pushing work on the Panama canal, the object apparently being either to complete it before work is begun on any other canal, or to deter this Government from giving substantial aid to any other scheme, on the ground that one isthmian canal will answer all the demands of commerce, making the other a dead venture.

Without arguing for or against any particular route this fact is apparent that if an isthmian canal was ever desirable to promote the material interests of this country it has now become a necessity, not only from a commercial but from a military standpoint. We have annexed the Hawaiian islands, we claim supremacy over Guam and the Philippines. This changes our geography and gives us territory on both sides of the Pacific and in the middle to defend in case of attack. This necessitates a large increase of our navy, distributed in two oceans, with 7,000 miles of land between. Such a canal would be equivalent to a large increase in the navy, for then the warships in one ocean might be speedily sent into the other in case of need, and there will be need of them in the future, and principally in the Pacific if we hold on to the Philippines, for there, in the scuffle for commercial ascendancy on that side, will be our weak point and point of attack. With the new departure we become necessarily involved in the game of European powers in their schemes for commercial supremacy and territorial empire, and can no longer be the neutral power we were when our boarders extended beyond neither ocean. Empire brings responsibilities and responsibilities require arms to maintain and defend.

While the advantages of such a waterway from a naval standpoint cannot be overestimated, it is of quite as much importance from a commercial standpoint, for it is among the teeming millions of the Eastern hemisphere that we must look for a market for much of our surplus products of field and factory. The eyes of European nations have been for years fixed on the yellow man's empire, and they all have been scheming and moving to get footholds that would give them dominating "spheres of influence," radiating bases from which they could expand their trade and make markets for their exportable products.

The Suez canal has facilitated the carrying out of these schemes which possibly might never have been undertaken or entertained if it had not been for the existence of that canal. It has been to the European nations in extending their trade and giving them foothold in the East, what an isthmian canal will be to us in extending our trade and increasing our prestige among the nations of the earth and especially among the peoples on both shores, and within the Pacific, with whom it will bring us into much closer relations. In these days of keen rivalry between competing nations, rapid transportation, which also means cheap transportation, is an important factor in trade, and every commercial nation seeks the quickest and cheapest way to reach its customers. The nation that excels other nations in that, other things being equal, will win the prize and establish its trade supremacy.

If we are to take the position we aspire to and compete with other nations which have the Suez canal as a highway, and with Russia which has the great Siberian rail highway, for trade in the domain of the yellow man, we must find a shorter way to get to him than rounding a continent, taking months to do what might be done in as many weeks, with proportionately less expense. That way is through the narrow neck of land that separates the two great oceans.

IN A HURRY WITH IT.

The fact that the financial bill was the first one introduced in the House of Representatives and also the first in the Senate shows that the Republican statesmen are in a hurry to get that job off their hands. This is further shown by the fact that the House bill was unanimously adopted by the Republican caucus. It is further shown by the fact that a resolution has been introduced for its immediate consideration, and that the time for discussion is to be limited to one week, when the gag will be applied and the bill rushed through as agreed upon by the Republican financiers.

There will be more time given for debate on the Senate bill for the gag rule does not apply in the Senate, but the probabilities are that the Senate bill will finally pass substantially as drafted. Then the conference committee will get together to compromise and adjust the differences between the two bills and we will have what the Republican gold-standard reformers call "financial reform." This is a cut and dried job which had, as far as the Republican Solons of each House are concerned, been practically agreed upon and decided before it was offered for debate at all, so that the debate will be a mere matter of form which will not materially affect the final action.

But doesn't it look like a farce that a measure in which the whole country is as vitally interested as it is in a financial scheme, that its consideration should be limited to one week, and that it should be rushed through as agreed upon by a party caucus? Of course it may be desirable that measures of this kind should not be unnecessarily protracted in discussion, but in all such matters, when such great interests are involved, it is better to make haste slowly, act with due deliberation and try to avoid the blunders that haste may cause. To consider measures and not to rush them through without due consideration is what Congress is supposed to have been instituted for. Congress is supposed to be deliberative body, not a foot ball team, where rush is the order. But the Republicans have the reins and the whip now, and they are going to run things there own way, if they can.

GLAD TO SEE THEM GO

A Havana dispatch published in the STAR yesterday, in reference to the reception of the President's message, after stating that the allusions to Cuba were favorably regarded by all classes of people, concludes with the remark that while the Cubans are not particularly anxious as to the time when the American troops will be removed, "everybody would be glad to see the black troops go, because of the excesses they commit."

There is, as far as we know, no prejudice against the negro in Cuba, such as there is in this country, although there are race distinctions there as there are in all countries where different races are thrown into contact with each other, but there seems to be a decided feeling against the American negro in the soldier's uniform, not on account of his color, but on account of the "excesses committed" by those negro soldiers. This feeling is not strange, for while there has been little trouble with white soldiers in Cuba, there have been a good deal with the negro soldiers, who have at various times caused disturbances that would have resulted seriously if it had not been for the prompt action of the military authorities, supported by white soldiers.

But this has been the history of the black soldiers everywhere since the outbreak of the war with Spain. Their conduct in camp both in this country and elsewhere has been a disappointment, especially when under the command of men of their own color, for whom it seems they didn't have respect enough to obey. The idea with the average black man is that when he gets inside of a uniform his individuality and his importance become magnified, and he becomes superior to the civil law and has a right to defy the man who undertakes to enforce it. The result has been that the negro as a soldier has lost caste, even with those who once thought there was some good soldier material in him, and that he would be found very useful in garrisoning and upholding our authority in our acquisitions from Spain.

Mr. Kipling should feel kindly towards the beggars. His "Absent-Minded Beggar" poem has brought him in so far about $45,000.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Chatham Record: Mrs. Rebecca Allen, of Hadley township, died last spring at the age of 87 years, and was buried in her wedding dress that was worn at her marriage 69 years before, and on which was no spot or blemish.

— Newbern Journal: J. W. Peacock, trading as J. W. Peacock & Son, at Fremont, Wane county, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy Wednesday. This makes the sixteenth case since the Bankruptcy Act went into effect that has been filed in the court here. Of this number Lenoir county has contributed six, Craven five, Wayne three, Beaufort one and Pasquotank one.

— Greensboro Telegram: The blockader, Wm H Honeycutt, who was arrested in Johnson City, Tenn., on Monday, will be brought to Greensboro and lodged in Guilford jail for safe keeping until the next term of Federal Court at Statesville. Honeycutt shot and killed Deputy Marshal Greer, in Mitchell county several weeks ago, and then killed M. S. Philips, who witnessed the shooting of Greer. The revenue people say that Honeycutt is the most desperate blockader they have ever had to contend with. —— Most of the twenty patients remaining at the State Normal and Industrial College are reported much better and the majority of these are convalescent.

— Rockingham Anglo-Saxon: Mr. Elija Covington an aged citizen of Black Jack township, died at his home last Sunday after a long illness. He served in the Confederate army. —— Mr. James McNeill, a well known citizen and farmer of this section, died last Friday night of dropsy of the heart. He was about 60 years of age. —— The store and contents of Messrs. Diggs & Diggs, in Wolf Pit township, about ten miles from Rockingham, was burned between midnight and day Tuesday morning. Mr. Dick William son, their salesman, who sleep in the store, barely escaped with his life. They had a $2,500 to $3,000 stock of goods, which is almost a total loss, together with the building, as we hear they had but very little insurance.

— Fayetteville Observer: A few minutes before eleven o'clock this (Wednesday) morning a fire originating from the boiler spread like wild fire over the plant of the Hickson Lumber Company in southwest Fayetteville, and in less than an hour and a half, $8,000 worth of property was destroyed. The plant destroyed was the property of H. A. Rankin & Co., and was under lease to the Hickson Lumber Company. Besides the plant used by the latter company, Mr. Rankin's splendidly equipped Novelty Works was totally destroyed with all its contents. Rankin Company's loss is estimated at fully $6000, with only $2,000 insurance, and the loss of the Hickson Lumber Company is estimated by Mr. John F. Hickson, the manager, at fully 2,500. with $2. 300 insurance. Hardly had the excitement over the fire of the big planing factory subsided before the alarm again rang out, and as we go to press the handsome residence of Capt. A. B. Williams, on Gillespie street, one of the historic houses of Fayetteville, is still burning, though the flames are under control. It is a dismantled wreck, the roof having fallen in.

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard street, Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"It soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles 10 cents at R. R. BELLAMY'S Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed. †

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— A London firm of caterers has sent to the British troops in South Africa a Christmas present in the form of 22,400 puddings of various sizes. The dispatches of a week or so ago told that some tons of plum pudding had been or would be forwarded to the troops. The Queen has made provisions for presenting to every one of her soldiers in South Africa a small quantity of chocolate. So much for the commissariat of Tommy Atkins. Meantime his Boer enemy is eating parched corn, and fighting like a demon —Savannah News, Dem:

—— Coarse cotton shirtings, refined petroleum, flour and lumber are now the principal commodities exported to China. The Chinese Minister tells the correspondent of the Boston Transcript that American trade might be almost indefinitely extended by a study of the requirements of the Chinese markets and by fair dealing. China is traversed in nearly every direction by canals, which furnish slow but very cheap transportation; hence imported merchandise is readily delivered in the interior of the Empire. The most serious obstacle to trade is internal taxation levied at the border line of every province.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

—— At the beginning of the war with Spain Congress published the following declaration: "That the United States hereby disclaims any disposition or intention to exercise sovereignty, jurisdiction or control over said island, (Cuba,) except for the pacification thereof, and asserts its determination when that is accomplished to leave the government and control of the island to its people." Does not this resolution, it is noted, "apply in good conscience" and with equal force to every island and people that we now hold as a consequence of that war? Conscientious Congressmen should consider the question very seriously. There is but one answer to it.—Charleston News and Courier, Dem

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. Three physicians had given me up Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters;' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. Valuable Old Stirrups.

A pair of iron stirrups were sold for $13,500 at the Forman sale in London. They were made for Matthias Corvinus, king of Hungary, and are partly plated with silver, parcel gilt and chased, each one of the outer sides having an exquisite border of translucent cloisonne enamel on gold six and one-half inches high and six inches wide. The work is Italian of the end of the sixteenth century.

HIS FORTUNE IN A DREAM.

But Everybody Is Not Expected to Believe the Story.

There lived at Swaffham, in Norfolk, a hardworking, industrious man, who followed the trade of a tinker.

This man dreamed one night that if he took a journey to London and placed himself on a certain part of London bridge he should there meet with a person who would communicate something to him of great importance to his future prospects in life.

This dream made some impression on the tinker's mind, and he related it very circumstantially to his wife in the morning. She, however, half laughed and half scolded at him for his folly in paying attention to such idle fancies and told him he had better get up and go to work.

The next night he dreamed the same again and likewise the third night, when the impression was so powerful on his mind that he determined, in spite of the remonstrances of his wife and the ridicule of his neighbors, to "go to London and see the upshot of it."

Accordingly, having made arrangements as to the management of his business during his absence, he furnished himself with a sum of money and set off on foot for the metropolis, distant about 90 miles. He reached the end of his journey late on the third day, and, having refreshed himself with a night's rest, he took his station the next morning on a part of the bridge which corresponded with the description in his dream.

There he stood all that day without any communication to the purpose of his journey. The next day it was the same and the third, so that toward night his confidence in his dream as well as his patience began to be considerably shaken, and he inwardly cursed himself for his folly in not yielding to his wife's advice and resolved that next day he would leave London and make the best of his way home again.

However, he kept his station until late in the evening, when just as he was about to leave it a stranger who had noticed him standing doggedly and with anxious looks on the same spot for some days accosted him and asked what he was waiting there for. After some hesitation the tinker told him his errand, without, however, acquainting him with the place he came from.

The stranger smiled at his simplicity and advised him to go home and in future pay no attention to dreams.

"I myself," said he, "if I were disposed to put faith in such things, might now go 100 miles into the country upon a similar errand. I dreamed three nights this week that if I went to a place called Swaffham, in Norfolk, and dug under an apple tree in a certain garden on the north side of the town, I should find a box of money, but I have something else to do than to run after such idle fancies. No, no, my friend; go home and work well at your calling, and you will find there the riches you are seeking here."

The tinker was astonished. This, he doubted not, was the information he was seeking, but he said nothing further to the stranger than to thank him for his advice and to declare his determination to follow it. He immediately went to his lodging and the next day set off for home, which he reached safe.

He said but little to his wife on the subject of his journey, but rose early the next morning and commenced digging on the spot supposed to be pointed out by the stranger. After proceeding in his work a few feet downward his spade struck against a hard substance, which, upon clearing the mold from the top of it, proved to be an iron chest. He quickly removed it to his house, and, having with some difficulty broken off the lid, to his great joy found it full of money.

After securing this treasure he discovered upon the outside of the chest an inscription, which, being no scholar, he was unable to decipher. He therefore hit upon the following expedient to ascertain its meaning:

There was in the town a grammar school, several of the pupils from which were constantly in the habit of passing his smithy on their way to and from school. The tinker judged that by placing the chest at the door it would excite the attention of the boys, and thus he should be able to obtain the object in view without exciting any suspicion among his neighbors.

He soon had the opportunity he sought. A number of the boys having gathered round, as was their custom, to witness the operations of the forge, he took occasion to challenge their scholastic skill in the translation of the inscription. Some shook their heads; others, after conning over it awhile, said it was not sufficiently legible.

At length, one older than the rest, anxious to display his superior learning, after scraping and brushing off the rust, gave the following solution of it:

Where this stood
Is another twice as good.

Overjoyed at this information, the tinker next morning resumed his labor, and, a little below the ground already cleared, he found a second chest double the size of the first, and, like it, filled with gold and silver coin.

The account goes on to state that, becoming thus suddenly a wealthy man, the tinker showed his gratitude to Providence by building a new chancel to the church, the old one being out of repair.

And, whatever fiction the marvelous taste of those ages may have mixed up with the tale, certain it is that there is shown at this day a monument in Swaffham church having an effigy in marble, said to be that of the tinker, with his dog at his side, and his tools and implements of trade lying around him.—Mirror.

Costly Admiration.

A characteristic story of General Lafayette was told in a Paris journal some years ago.

At Lamarque's funeral the crowd took out General Lafayette's horses, as the famous soldier was returning home from the service, and drew his carriage to his hotel with many evidences of enthusiastic love and admiration. The scene was a stirring one, and a friend, in referring to it some weeks afterward, said, "You must have been very much pleased."

Lafayette looked at him for a moment in silence and then said, with a whimsical smile:

"Yes; I was very much pleased—very much pleased indeed. But I never saw anything more of my horses, my dear friend!"

WILLIE WALDORF.

Now that England repudiates him, perhaps Willie Waldorf could palm himself off as a China Astor.—St. Paul Globe.

If the Anglo-Saxon alliance can stand the Astor strain, it seems strong enough for almost any old pull.—Omaha World-Herald.

It looks as if William Waldorf Astor had spoiled his welcome both in Europe and America. He may find himself compelled to camp out in the Azores.—Washington Star.

It is announced with some show of satisfaction that Mr. Astor's wealth remains in America. Europe will not object to this so long as the income which it earns is spent on that side of the water.—Exchange.

The Garden of Love.

She is a maiden so dainty and fair,
He is a youth at her side;
Love is the gardener working there;
They are toe flowers of his tender care,
And life is his garden wide!

Trust is the voice of the flowing breeze
That sings on its scented way,
Adding a pleasure when all things please,
Breathing a whisper of rest and ease
That tells of a fearless day.

Hope is the sun that is shining bright,
With a promise of life to be,
Giving them strength of its tender might—
Filling their hearts with a dear delight—
In the kisses that none may see.

Time without end is the infinite sky
That smiles on their growth from above;
Watching the blossoms that bud in a sigh
Grow into fruit as the seasons go by—
The triumph of Gardener Love!

—Thomas D. Lister in National Magazine For August.

If ever superstition could find excuse, it would be when the expectant mother, calendar in hand, ponders the fortunate days and hopes that the baby's birthday may fall on a lucky time. It is natural to wish the best of fortune for those we love. Why not will fortune as well as wish it for the child?

The greatest fortune any mother can bestow on her child is a healthy body and a happy mind, and with this great fortune every mother may endow the child if she will. The child's stock of health is what the mother supplies. The weak and worried woman has a very slender stock of health to bestow on the baby.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes mothers healthy and happy. It does away with the misery of morning sickness. It strengthens the nerves, gives the body a feeling of buoyancy, makes the mind cheerful, gives vigor and elasticity to the organs peculiarly feminine, and baby's advent to the world is free from danger and painless.

"My first two babies were still-born, and I suffered every thing but death," writes Mrs. Euphemia Falconer, of Trent, Muskegon Co., Mich. "I was reduced to 109 pounds. When I was three months along with my third child I was taken with hemorrhage or flooding and came near having a miscarriage from female weakness. For two months I was under the care of our doctor, but was getting weaker all the time until I sent and got three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription.' I improved fast and continued to take your medicine until baby was born, and he is healthy and all right. My health has been good ever since. I now weigh 165 pounds."

There is no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant in "Favorite Prescription," neither does it contain any opium or other narcotic.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do not react on the system They are a perfect medicine.

BARIUM ROCK SPRING WATER,

(Old Poison Spring), is nature's specific for every form of skin disease and blood poison. It does not, like soap and ointment, merely drive for a time the external signs, but goes to the root of the evil and drives out the poison in the blood which causes the eruptions to appear.

METHODIST PARSONAGE,

TRIP TO SULU ISLANDS.

American Officer's Description of What He Saw There.

FRIENDLY ATTITUDE OF NATIVES.

Captain L. P. Sanders, Who Visited Jolo, the Principal Island, Says We Will Have No Trouble There—Customs and Unique Dress of the Moros—A Native Dance.

A letter was recently received at Helena, Mon., from Captain L. P. Sanders, who is on the staff of General Otis at Manila, containing a description of his trip to the Sulu Islands. Captain Sanders and Colonel Potter were sent on the steamer Butuan by General Otis to ascertain the situation there and the attitude of the natives toward the Americans, says the New York Sun. Captain Sanders anticipates no trouble there whatever. He arrived at Jolo, the principal island, on May 28. Two battalions of the Twenty-third infantry are in charge there. Captain Sanders says:

"We were presented to the local chief and to several others of the party and invited them to witness the battalion parade. The band of the Twenty-third infantry struck up, and the companies formed in line, greatly, I imagine, impressing our visitors. The

THE SULTAN OF SULU.

American soldier is all for business, nothing for show, and his stature and self consciousness of strength appeal strongly to these people, and they unconsciously show it when our troops appear. I think that parade did much toward establishing friendly relations.

"After dinner they all came to Captain Pratt's headquarters. It was dark, and a lamp cast a dim light about the room. We were seated at the table, the chief and secretary on the right and left of Captain Pratt and their retinue standing up in the dim shadows behind. It was a picture I shall never forget. The secretary was dressed like an American save that he wore a fez and a white skirt. The chief was dressed in a skin tight costume of black silk, thickly covered with gold embroidery work, with a showy sash and beautifully made turban. Through his sash stuck his barong, the envy of us all.

"It had an elaborately carved onyx handle. The grip was of pure gold and richly carved and the blade of finely etched steel. The retinue behind, some in the costumes of the Moros, others seemingly right from the plains of Arabia, presented a most picturesque sight. Some of them were in fact recently from the Red sea, traders wandering off to these tropical islands.

"With Mr. Schuck as interpreter the interview began. The secretary first informed us that the sultan was sick at Siasi, otherwise he would have come to pay his respects. The sultan hoped the Americans would be friendly to his people and he expressed his gratitude to them for having driven out the Spaniards. He assured us that had the Americans not come, it was his intention to hunt them up even if he had to go so far away as Singapore to find us. This remark, as did many others, impressed me with the fact of their utter ignorance of us as a nation.

"Finally, he said the Sulu islands were but small and his people very poor, and he hoped the United States would not claim sovereignty over them. In reply Captain Pratt, avoiding political questions, expressed his regret at the illness of the sultan and said the United States would certainly befriend them, but that he could not say what the intentions of the government were as to taking the islands. Colonel Potter thought it safe to add a little more, and the captain then said that if we did maintain sovereignty they would enjoy such liberty as their conduct warranted, all of which evidently pleased the secretary and chief.

"Moros are altogether unlike the Filipinos. There is no striking feature about the Filipino that rivets one's attention, but the Moro fascinates and interests you from the start. He is of a rather diminutive size, a sinewy, lithe fellow, broad shoulders and thin legged, with boldness, defiance and haughtiness in every movement of his catlike tread. His dress is unique and has just enough of the Arab's costume about it to bring one's visions of the sandy desert, even amid these tropical lands. With skin tight trousers, buttoned from knee to ankle, short blouse cut off at the waist, bared chest, gaudy sash, in which is carried his murderous barong or kreiss, and gayly colored turban, he is a most curious and picturesque personage, essentially a fighting man, head hunter and a most formidable enemy. He detests work and subsists on fruit, fish and cattle, fights and hunts constantly, compelling captives of other tribes to do all menial labor. Slavery exists among them, each tribe waging war with its neighbor and the stronger holding in abject slavery the vanquished. His religion permits him four wives, who never live with him, but in neighboring huts. They are a tidewater people, whole communities living together in huge nipa huts built far out from shore above the sea and connected with the land by rickety, insecure bridges of bamboo. I crawled ashore on one and could not but think the shakiness studied, in order to make a surprise from land more difficult."

Describing a native dance, he says: "A feeble old man stepped into the circle of crouching Moros and laid a spear on the floor. The pots struck up a wild discord, and from a slow shuffle he rapidly worked himself into a veritable frenzy. From decrepit old age he was for the time transformed into defiant, lusty youth, and, seizing the spear, attacked imaginary foes all around the vacant space. His gyrations plainly told the story of discovery of his enemy, the death struggle, the victory and, with vicious slashes of his barong, the decapitation of the vanquished. Next two boys danced an imaginary spear contest, which showed clearly as they wrought themselves up how utterly cruel and heartless they must be in actual war."

When a woman worries herself to death about her husband's getting so thin, it's generally because she is getting so stout.—New York Press.

BOYS WHO FLAG TRAINS.

New Industry Inaugurated In the Black Hills.

The recent flagging of a train by a Black Hills boy and the generous treatment accorded him by the passengers and railroad officials has resulted in inaugurating a new industry among the Black Hills boys. The other day passengers at a station near where the flagging episode occurred noticed a bright faced, ragged urchin standing near the track. Hoping to get a sight of the boy who had created so much favorable comment by his action a few days previously in flagging the train and preventing what might have been a serious accident some of the kind hearted hero worshipers asked the lad who he was, says the Chicago Tribune. He promptly replied, "I'm de kid wot flagged de keers t'other day."

Without stopping to verify his claim they at once began tossing him nickels, dimes and quarters. From that day every urchin who puts in his time at the depots in that particular locality is "the boy who flagged the train," and unsuspecting passengers have ample opportunities to part with their spare change.

The Morning Star.
WILMINGTON, N. C.
FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 8.

ROBERTS' ADDRESS TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

A Plausible Presentation of His Case—A Review of the Facts and Proceedings in the House.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, December 7.—Brigham Roberts, of Utah, who was not allowed to be sworn in as a representative in Congress of that State has issued an address to the American people. It contains much that was said by Mr. Roberts on the floor of the House and by Mr. Richardson who opposed the resolution of Mr. Taylor, of Ohio. After reviewing the facts and proceedings resulting in the appointment of the committee he says:

"The member from Utah is not allowed to take the oath of his office, and a committee is appointed to try him as to his alleged guilt of the offences charged. Nay, even more is granted than was asked, at least more than was asked upon the floor of the House. For a hostile committee has been appointed to inquire into the case. Its membership is made up entirely of those who voted to adopt the method of procedure.

"I ask the American people to stop and think what that may mean to this country in times of high political excitement, and party strife and passion.

"(1) A formidable minority in the House may be reduced either to a very insignificant minority, or even blotted out of existence.

"(2) The representation to which the State is entitled on the floor of the House may be denied to it—as in this Utah case—for any length of time this committee may elect to deny it such representation. Suppose that in this case the committee shall see proper to proceed with reasonable expedition to consider the questions involved, but what is there to hinder it delaying its action under one pretext or another as long as it pleases? It can prolong its investigations for two years as well as a month or a year, if it so elects, and meantime deny to a State representation, and may defeat altogether the expressed will of a people of a State as to their choice of a representative.

"(3) This new precedent also strikes down the constitutional guarantee of a right to one accused of a crime to speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the State wherein the crime shall have been committed.

"The proposition is not to deprive me of my seat in Congress by the presentation of records of conviction for crime before courts before which I have been found guilty, under the due forms of the law. The proposition is to try me before the committee of the House, to send for persons and papers to ascertain my guilt or innocence of an alleged misdemanor, reported to have been committed in Utah.

"If I were guilty of the misdemeanor charged, even flagrantly so—here in the capital—I could not even be arrested for the offence, so slight is it considered under the law. The constitution gives the members of Congress immunity from arrest for misdemeanors except for breach of the peace, and yet for an alleged misdemeanor for which I could not be arrested while in attendance upon the House, or while going to or from it—I am deprived the right to take the oath of my office; my final right to take my seat is in jeopardy; the people of one of the sovereign States is denied representation, so long as it shall suit the purpose of the committee to have it so, and the expressed will of the people of a state is in danger of being defeated.

"It is true that the representative from Utah is a 'Mormon,' and just now against the Mormon people a wave of popular sentiment, created by falsedhood, chiefly by the charge that Utah has broken her compact with the United States in the matter of polygamy; that her people contemplate the revival of polygamous marriages; that the seating of Utah's representative would be regarded by her Mormon population as an endorsement of polygamy, and would be a menace to the American home. Upon my honor as a representative from the State of Utah, a man in whom the State of Utah has reposed their confidence, both non-Mormons as well as Mormons, I solemnly deny those charges. They are not true. The only thing chargeable to some few men in the State of Utah, is that they have not deserted the plural wives they married years ago, previous to the settlement of the polygamy question between the government of the United States and the State of Utah.

"Even continuing the relations formed before the settlement of the question, though their disruption was neither demanded by the Enabling Act nor contemplated in the provisions of the State constitution—are under the law a misdemeanor and punishable; but it has not been regarded as necessary to good morals or public policy, to prosecute people for this offence, and neither by the Republican party or by the Democrats, has the existence of such relations been considered a bar to political preferment until the political and religious enemies of the present representative from Utah thought proper to urge them against him. But such men have been elected to offices of high honor in the State of Utah, and others against whom such charges were made by affidavit were appointed to Federal offices in the State, notwithstanding such objections were urged against them.

"I shall do all I can to maintain my rights under the constitution. I stand alone, save for the very few who gave me their very guarded support by voting against the monstrous proceedings that prevents me from taking the oath of office.

"I am without a dollar at my command, except the salary attached to my office, with which to fight the battle now pending before the special committee. I am without legal counsel except for the kindly suggestions of here and there a word from a lawyer acquaintance or friend. I want the condition here named to stand as a refutation to the sensational charges that have been made about the Mormon church standing behind me, with any amount of money for legal counsel, and the maintenance of a lobby in Washington."

Senator Jones, of Arkansas, chairman of the Democratic caucus of the Senate, has announced the membership of the caucus committee to make committee assignments for the Democratic side of the Senate, as follows: Senators Jones, Cockrell, Martin, Bacon, Rawlins, Turley and Money.

AGUINALDO AGAIN ELUDES PURSUIT.

Filipino Leader Believed to be in Cavite Province, Where the Insurrection Began.

GENERAL YOUNG HEARD FROM.

Reports His Arrival at Vigan—Activity of the Insurgents at Imus and Bacoor — Movements of United States Troops.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

MANILA, December 7.—The expectation of catching Aguinaldo in the north has been practically abandoned and the probability now is that he will turn southward, if he is not already there, with his destination Cavite province, his home, where the insurrection began, and where it has the greatest strength. The Filipino soldiers in that province have recently been showing increased enthusiasm and boldness, and captured insurgents say that Aguinaldo is coming to join them with a large army. The same belief prevails among the natives at Manila and elsewhere that Aguinaldo intends to make his headquarters in Cavite province.

There are about 3,000 insurgents before Imus and Bacoor, keeping the Americans sleeping on their arms and nightly awaiting attack. The Filipinos have several cannon. The first mayor of Imus under the American regime, who recently deserted, is their leader in the assaults and is ambitious to take the town.

Deserters to the Enemy.

Three soldiers of the Fourth infantry have deserted and are now with the enemy. Most of the inhabitants of Imus are so strong in their sympathies with the insurgents that it is necessary to use a part of the regiment to patrol the streets and to prevent shooting from houses whenever an attack begins. The American forces in the north have separated into many small commands and are pursuing bands of Filipinos. General MacArthur is engaged in clearing the mountain country west of the Manila-Dagupan railroad. General Grant is moving from Angeles toward Subig with four hundred men. Colonel Bell is sweeping south from Mangataren. Thus far the American commanders have been unable to locate large bodies of insurgents, although there were about five hundred in San Clementine, nine miles south of Mangataren, early in the week.

Gen. Young Turns Up.

WASHINGTON, December 7.—To the relief of the War Department General Young has been heard from, after a week's absence in the interior of Luzon. Gen. Otis cabled this morning as follows:

"General Young reports his arrival at Vigan on the evening of the 5th, having encountered a force of the enemy at Narbacan, ten miles south of the city, whom he drove to the eastward of the same into San Quentin Canyan. His troops are now pressing then back. Country is rough and strongly entrenched. About six hundred prisoners, who escaped, reported that the insurgents allowed all but the American and prominent Spanish prisoners to escape from Bangued. Later the insurgents were driven back into the mountains. Will send transportation to bring the prisoners to Manila and to supply Young's troops with necessary quartermaster's stores. Our casualties were one killed and twelve wounded; wounds mostly slight. Enemy left in trenches twenty-five dead, a few rifles, several thousand rounds of small arms ammunition and forty shrapnel. Young has sufficient troops to meet all difficulties."

THE KENTUCKY LYNCHING.

Crowds of Sight-Seers Crowded the Ground Where Coleman Was Cremated.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MAYSVILLE, KY., December 7.—Crowds of relic hunters and sight-seers to day crowded the cricket grounds where Coleman was burned by a mob yesterday, but there was no disorder, and rumors that the militia would be called out were discredited. Coleman's ashes, encased in a baking-powder can, were buried in Pottersfield to day.

Citizens of Maysville say that they do not believe the grand jury will attempt to indict the members of the mob.

THE AMERICAN COTTON COMPANY IN SMITHFIELD.

The Smithfield Herald editorially says:

Mr. W. M. Sanders, some time since, leased and installed a roundlap cotton press here, and operated the same for several weeks. In a short time, however, he discovered that to fight public opinion and to antagonize the best interests of the people was truly an uphill business. Accordingly he notified the American Cotton Company to remove their press and announced his intention to cease the manufacture of the despicable round bale.

Some correspondence ensued between Mr. Sanders and the company with the result that a few days since the entire plant, gins, engines, presses, etc., was conveyed by him to the American Cotton Company for a cash consideration of $4,000.

We congratulate Mr. Sanders for having sold out, and we welcome the influx of capital which the American Cotton Company will necessarily put in circulation in this community. We hope that the concern will spend $50,000 here, and it would not be charitable to wish it to lose more than half this amount.

For the past two years we have heard people speak of their "undying opposition" to trusts and extortionate combinations of capital. They now have an opportunity of "carrying their talk into practice." It is not necessary to visit New York or New Jersey to find the enemy, he is here within reach, where the public can strike him directly. It is not at all necessary to employ the devious and costly and unsatisfactory method of legislation to cripple him. The enemy has invaded your country, has pitched his camp, and with dollars as his bullets is attempting to capture the favor of the public. He has invited battle with you, and has placed himself in a position where every cotton raiser can strike him. It remains to be seen if all this talk of "opposition to trusts" is "blow" or business—which is it?

In some communities of the South where an attempt has been made to introduce the roundlap bale, the farmers have held mass meetings and adopted resolutions pledging their individual opposition to the system. Why shouldn't the farmers of Johnston county do the same?

STIRRING NEWS EXPECTED SOON.

All Preparations for An Advance to the Relief of Ladysmith Are Complete.

MAY FIGHT AT SPYFONTEIN.

A Great Engagement is Anticipated—Boers Making Preparations for the British Attack—General Methuen Has Again Assumed Command.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—General Buller's arrival at Frere is held to indicate that all the preparations for an advance to the relief of Ladysmith are complete and that stirring news will soon be received. The fact that Lord Methuen is announced as assuming his command at almost the same moment, is interpreted in some quarters to mean that battles will be fought simultaneously in Natal and at Spytfontein. It appears doubtful, however, whether General Methuen's force is yet ready for what will eventually be a heavy encounter.

The construction of the temporary bridge across Modder river has entailed enormous labor; and even now the structure is liable to be washed away should a heavy storm come. General Methuen has been obliged to move his camp a mile north in consequence of the unsanitary state of the stream, due to the presence of the bodies of dead Boers. As the railroad bridge was completely destroyed he was compelled to leave a considerable force to protect his communications. A special correspondent sends the interesting information regarding Boer tactics that Commandant General Joubert has given general orders to reserve fire until the British are within the close range of 400 yards. At the Modder river battle the Free State burghers became nervous, opened fire prematurely, thus revealing their position, and frustrated the Boer plans.

The government has decided to dispatch to South Africa at the earliest possible moment a cavalry brigade of about 4,000 men.

Great Battle Expected.

LONDON, December 7.—A special dispatch from Modder river says everything points to the fact that a great engagement will be fought at Spyfontein. The Boers are massing on the hills there, are vigorously building stone defences, and are digging rifle pits in every direction. The Boers' redoubts on Lazaretto ridge, west of Kimberley, are also being extended and strengthened, showing that the rumors of the intentions of the Boers to abandon the attempt to stem General Methuen's advance are unfounded.

The British have shifted their camp a few hundred yards away from the battlefield and are settling down for a week. There are some cases of fever among the troops. Much depends on General Gatacre's advance. There is undoubtedly a large concentration of Boers ahead of General Methuen. Practically the whole of their Mafeking forces have joined the Kimberley besiegers.

The Sortie at Kimberley.

An official account of the sortie at Kimberley, November 28th, when the British casualties, as cabled yesterday occurred, says:

Major Scott Turner, with the mounted troops attacked the enemy's right flank, capturing a laager and three redoubts. The enemy, in a fourth redoubt, made a stubborn resistance when Major Scott Turner was killed. The British captured many shells and destroyed other stores.

The same dispatch gives reports from Colonel Kekewich, dated December 3rd and 4th, showing the Boers were increasing in numbers around Kimberley.

The Boer advance in the northeastern part of Cape Colony is becoming remarkable. The local farmers are flocking to the Boer laagers, the townspeople, in many instances, welcoming the invaders with every demonstration of joy. The annexation of British territory proceeds daily. The reported Boer successes have made a great impression among the Basutos.

Advices from Gen. Methuen.

LONDON, December 7.—The War Office here has received the following message from General Forrestier-Walker, the British commander at Cape Town:

"Wednesday, December 6.—General Methuen wires to day that he has assumed command and is nightly in communication with Kimberley. The health of the troops is excellent."

KIMBERLEY, December 4, via Modder River.—Everything has been quiet here during the last three days. The theatre and the convent have been fitted up as hospitals. A number of our cattle have been captured by the enemy.

Orange Free State.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The announcement is made in a special dispatch from Bloemfontein, dated Saturday, December 3rd, that President Steyn, of the Orange Free State, has joined the Boer forces at the Modder river. His appearance, the dispatch says, caused great enthusiasm among the Boers.

FREE CAMP, NATAL, Dec. 6.—A runner from Ladysmith to-day reports all well. The bombardment, the messenger adds, continues, but is ineffective, the Boer shells only hitting the houses.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—The Daily Mail publishes a dispatch from Julian Ralph, at Modder river, who says:

"The Kimberley people are troubled by the necessity of feeding 100,000 Basutos in the diamond fields whom the Boers refuse to allow to depart, and should they fail to get enough meat, would become discontented and restless. On the night of the battle at Modder river, Kimberley, missing the accustomed signals from here was in great anxiety, fearing that we had been defeated. The fact was that we did not use our search light for fear the Boers' guns would break the apparatus. Five hundred and thirty Boers were killed or wounded in the battle here. That number has already been accounted for, and the enemy's losses were probably much heavier."

The Brooklyn Eagle says that a lawyer intimately connected with an investigation into the affairs of the Franklyn syndicate has given information that Wm. F. Miller, the manager of the Franklyn syndicate, is under surveillance near Montreal, Canada.

FINANCE BILL IN THE HOUSE.

Committee Attempted to Reach An Agreement for Its Consideration Next Week.

OBJECTION BY RICHARDSON

Senate Proceedings — Colloquy Between Senators—Joint Resolutions in Favor of Election of Senators by the People—To Limit Terms.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, December 7.—Routine proceedings of the Senate to day were enlivened by a colloquy between Senator Chandler of New Hampshire, and Senator Hale of Maine, over a bill introduced by the former to promote athletic sports at the military academy at West Point, and the naval academy at Annapolis. Both Senators became factious and at times sarcastic over the growth of athletics at American colleges, and Senator Chandler advanced the proposition that the cultivation of such sports as foot ball and similar sports at the government academies ought to be given the sanction of law.

Senator Chandler, of New Hampshire, offered resolutions instructing the Committee on Privileges and Elections to investigate the right of William A. Clark of Montana, and Nathan B. Scott of West Virginia to seats in the Senate, and to take testimony. The resolutions were referred to the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

Senator Berry, of Arkansas, offered a joint resolution in favor of the election of United States Senators by the people, and gave notice that at a later date he would address the Senate upon the subject.

At 12.50 P. M. the Senate went into executive session, and at 1.05 P. M. adjourned until Monday.

Senator Harris to day introduced a joint resolution providing for the limitation of the time a President shall be elected to one term of six years and making the terms of members of the House four years.

Senator Tillman, a bill giving soldiers of the Spanish war the same preference in civil service appointments as given to soldiers of the civil war.

Senator Harris, a bill granting pensions to persons who served in the Confederate service and afterwards in the army and navy of the United States.

House of Representatives.

The session of the House lasted only half an hour to-day. Mr. Overstreet, of Indiana, in charge of the Finance bill, attempted to reach an agreement for its consideration next week, but Mr. Richardson, on behalf of the minority, rejected all proposals on the ground that a bill as important as this should go through the regular channels.

The Speaker thereupon appointed the Committee on Rules, which is to include himself, Mr. Dalzell of Pennsylvania, Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio, Mr. Richardson of Tennessee, and Mr. Bailey of Texas. They will hold a meeting to morrow and decide upon a rule for the limits of the debate, which will undoubtedly consume the whole of next week.

Mr. Roberts, the Mormon representative, despite the adoption of the Tayler resolution, which in terms deprives him of his seat during the pendency of his case in committee, was in the hall throughout the session and occupied the seat he selected on Monday.

Mr. Meyer, of Louisiana, announced that he had been incorrectly recorded as voting "aye" on the Roberts resolution on Tuesday. He had voted "no."

Mr. Overstreet, of Indiana, in charge of the Finance bill, then arose for the purpose of reaching an agreement, if possible for the consideration of the Finance bill. He asked that an agreement be made for commencing the debate next Tuesday.

Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, said the proposal was unusual. It was that an important measure, perfected in all its details, during the recess by the members on the other side, should be brought into the House without having been considered in committee and taken up upon two days notice. He insisted that the bill should go to a committee for first consideration. There was no immediate call for the passage of his bill and he objected to the proposed agreement.

Mr. Overstreet asked unanimous consent to print in the Record an analysis of the bill.

"I understand the gentleman desires to inject a stump speech in the Record," observed Mr. Terry, of Arkansas. "I object."

Upon the motion of Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, a resolution was adopted to print 3,000 copies of the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of the Adgystone Pipe and Steel Company et al., appellants, versus the United States, for the use of the House. This is the anti-trust decision of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Mercer, of Nebraska, then announced the death of the late Representative Green, of Nebraska, and after the adoption of the customary resolutions the House, at 12.35 P. M., as a further mark of respect, adjourned.

THE KENTUCKY CONTEST.

Probability That Decision Will be in Favor of the Republican Candidates.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

FRANKFORT, KY., December 7.—The decision of the State Board of Election Commissioners, covering the gubernatorial contest, will be handed down on Saturday morning. The strong probability is that certificates of election will be given to William S Taylor, the Republican candidate for Governor, and to the Republican candidates for the other officers on the State ticket. The vote will probably be two for the Republican and one for the Democratic State ticket.

It is possible that one or the other of the two majority members of the board may alter his position and stand for Goebel, but it is not considered likely, and the chances now are that the conditions, which prevail to-night, will endure to the end, and that the certificates will be handed down to William S. Taylor and his colleagues on Saturday.

WILL MEET WEDNESDAY.

The Democratic State Committee—An Important Meeting.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

RALEIGH, N. C. December 7.—The Democratic State Committee will meet here next Wednesday evening and it is expected every member will be present. It is declared to be the most important meeting since 1892.

AN APPALLING FIRE AT READING, PA.

Several Girls Killed and About Sixty Others Injured in Jumping From the Windows.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

READING, Pa., Dec. 7.—One of the most appalling fires that has ever visited this city occurred to-day when the extensive hosiery mill of the Nolen and Horst Company took fire, destroying the plant, causing the death of several and injuring about sixty other employes of the company.

The hosiery building was a large structure, and nearly six hundred persons were employed, most of them being women and girls. The fire was discovered about 11 o'clock, and in a few moments the girls were panic stricken. They made a dash for the fire-escape and the stairs, but found that the latter means of escape could not carry all of them down at the same time. Several hundred of the girls then made a rush for the windows and appealed to those in the street to save them. Ladders were brought into use, and many girls were taken from the burning building safely. Most of them, however, jumped and were seriously injured. For a few minutes from every window on the second and third floors girls leaped one after the other. Some lodged in the arms of those below, but many struck the ground. They were picked up and rapidly removed to hospitals or to their homes. Many of the girls who escaped by the stairways and fire escapes were badly burned, but none of them it is believed, was seriously injured. It is not known how the dead met their fate but it is believed they fainted and were then burned to death. The fire travelled with great rapidity, owing to the inflammable stock in the building. By those who saw the progress of the fire, it is considered miraculous that there was such a small loss of life. There is much criticism among the employes because of the fact that the screens in the windows, except those at the fire escapes, were securely nailed to the window sills. The girls had to break the window screens before they could get out to leap to the ground. Some of the employes say that the doors were locked, as a rule, after the employes were in the building.

The fire was caused by the explosion of gasoline in the singeing room. It is estimated that the loss is about $275,000, on which there is an insurance of $150,000.

APFAIRS IN THE FAR EAST.

A Radical Change in the Balance of Power at Peking, China.

[Correspondence of Associated Press.]

SHANGHAI, CHINA, November 9.—There is a radical change in the balance of power at Peking. It was the expectation in the East that Russia would seize the opportunity afforded by the British Boer war to bring unusual pressure to bear on the effete Peking regime. This was attempted; but thus has it far utterly failed, for a third party has made its appearance on the scene. Japan is undoubtedly in the confidence of the Empress Dowager, and Japan is utilizing the opportunity. During the past week there has been a gathering of Japanese statesmen at Peking. Baron Nishi has been appointed minister from Japan. He has had fifteen years experience as Japanese minister at St. Petersburg and is in the first rank of Japanese statesmen.

SEABOARD AIR LINE.

Granted Right of Way for its New Line in Charleston, S. C.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Dec. 7.—The City Council to-night granted rights of way through certain streets to the Chattanooga, Augusta and Charleston railway, a new line which the Seaboard Air Line has surveyed, and which gives direct railroad connection between Atlanta and Charleston.

The Southern railway has proposed that the Seaboard join the Southern, Atlantic Coast Line and Plant systems in the erection of a Union depot, and in the joint ownership and control of the East Shore terminal railroad which skirts this city's eastern water front. The commercial bodies and every merchant in the city regard the coming of the Seaboard as of incalculable advantage to the business interests of Charleston.

EXCITEMENT IN TAMPA.

Cubans Making Incendiary Speeches Regarding American Occupation of Cuba.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

TAMPA, FLA., December 7.—Cubans here are much excited over several speeches which were made in cigar factories this morning by Cubans whose names will not be revealed.

The speakers were bitter and incendiary in their language regarding the American occupation of Cuba, and advocated the use of force and dynamite to rid the island of all Americans.

There are several thousand Cubans in Tampa and it is believed these orators have come from Cuba to excite the colony and to raise money later on to carry out some plan of insurrection.

Body of a Widow Lady Found in the River Near Macon—Negro Arrested As Her Probable Murderer.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MACON, GA., December 7.—The body of Mrs. Eugenia Pottle, widow of the late Judge Joseph Pottle, one of the most prominent men in this section and daughter of Colonel John Hamilton, who took a prominent part in the border troubles in Missouri and Kansas before the war, was found in the Ocmulgee river just above the city this afternoon.

Mrs. Pottle disappeared while on the way from Macon to her Jones county plantation on Monday, November 20th, and the search for her since that time had been unavailing up to to day. An investigation of the case led to the belief that she had been the victim of foul play and circumstances strongly pointed to Allen Fuller, a negro, as her probable murderer. Fuller has been arrested and lodged in Bibb county jail where he will await a more thorough investigation of the case. Mrs. Pottle was well known throughout the State and was a woman of marked peculiarities.

SENATOR QUAY'S CASE.

Senate Committee Will Hear Protests On Saturday of Next Week.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, December 7.—The Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections to-day arranged the preliminaries for the consideration of the protests against Senators Quay, Clark and Scott. In the Quay case it was decided to hear counsel on Saturday, the 16th instant, and that the hearing should be concluded on that date. Only legal questions are involved in this case and the witnesses were heard.

The preliminary preparation for the Clark and Scott case was placed in the hands of Senators Chandler and Pettus. They were authorized to decide for the committee what persons should be summoned and when they should be heard.
